

SUMMER'S END FESTIVAL

VENUE

LYDNEY TOWN HALL, GLOUCESTERSHIRE

DATE

01/09/12

This was Prog's first time seeing Manning live, and although the band were losing two key members after this show, they were a delight to behold. There's a wonderfully olde worlde feel to Guy Manning's storytelling, matched by the earnest intensity of the many band members (did they have as many people on satge as Knifeworld?). Here's hoping they regroup in the near future.
